Everywhere you go,
people work.

People work in the country.

People work in the city.

A group of workers who agree to help one another to make their jobs better is called a union.

People work at the port. They are called "longshore workers" because they work along the shore.

Every day, big ships come to the port, and the workers (longshoremen) unload them.

The things that come to the port come in big boxes called containers.

The workers unload them onto trucks.

Can you draw what might be inside this container?

Many of the things you use every day are unloaded at the port by longshore workers.

At union meetings, the workers discuss ways to make their work better and safer.

When the owners and the longshore workers cannot agree, there may be a strike.

The workers stop working and meet with the owners. When they agree, the workers go back to work.

The union's health plan helps pay when a worker goes to the doctor or to the dentist.

Workers who don't work anymore get money to live on from a union pension.

These big cranes stand by the port.
What do they look like to you?

Children work in their schools.
What work are the children doing?
Write it in this box.

An injury to ONE Is an injury to ALL

Yes. Everywhere you go, people work.
Every day you see them. Can you draw some of the working people on this page?

Along the Shore and the California State Standards

The California State Board of Education has adopted a series of standards for students in California Schools from Kindergarten through 12th grade. Along the Shore addresses the following History-Social Studies standards for grades K through 3:

K.3 Students match simple descriptions of work that people do and the names of related jobs at the school, in the local community, and from historical accounts.

K.6 Students understand that history relates to events, people, and places of other times.

1. Identify the purposes of, and the people and events honored in, commemorative holidays, including the human struggles that were the basis for the events (e.g., Thanksgiving, Independence Day, Washington's and Lincoln's Birthdays, Martin Luther King Jr. Day, Memorial Day, Labor Day, Columbus Day, Veterans Day).

1. 6 Students understand basic economic concepts and the role of individual choice in a free-market economy.

1. Understand the concept of exchange and the use of money to purchase goods and services.
2. Identify the specialized work that people do to manufacture, transport, and market goods and services and the contributions of those who work in the home.

2.4 Students understand basic economic concepts and their individual roles in the economy and demonstrate basic economic reasoning skills.

1. Describe food production and consumption long ago and today, including the roles of farmers, processors, distributors, weather, and land and water resources.
2. Understand the role and interdependence of buyers (consumers) and sellers (producers) of goods and services.
3. Understand how limits on resources affect production and consumption (what to produce and what to consume).

Por dóndequiera que vas, la gente trabaja.

La gente trabaja en el campo.

La gente trabaja en la ciudad.

Un grupo de trabajadores que se ayudan
hacer mejor sus trabajos se llama un sindicato.

La gente trabaja en el puerto.
A estos trabajadores
se les llaman
estibadores.

Diariamente, llegan los barcos grandes al puerto y los estibadores los descargan.

Las cosas que llegan al puerto llegan en grandes vagones.

Los estibadores los descargan y los ponen en camiones de carga.

Dibuja lo que puede haber en estos vagones.

Muchas de las cosas que usas a diario son descargadas en el puerto por los estibadores.

En su sindicato los estibadores discuten la manera de hacer su trabajo mejor y más seguro.

Cuando los dueños y el sindicato de los estibadores no están de acuerdo, puede haber huelga.

Los estibadores paran de trabajar y se reúnen con los dueños. Cuando llegan a un acuerdo, entonces los estibadores regresan a su trabajo.

El plan de salud del sindicato ayuda a pagar cuando un estibador va al médico o al dentista.

Los estibadores que ya no trabajan reciben dinero para vivir de su pensión del sindicato.

Estas grandes grúas que se encuentran en el puerto. ¿A qué se te afiguran?

Los niños trabajan en su escuela.
¿Que clase de trabajo hacen?
Escribelo en el espacio.

Lastimar
Es lastimar

a uno
a todos

Es cierto. Por dondequiera que vas, la gente trabaja. Los ves todos los días; Puedes dibujar algunos de los trabajadores en esta página?
